MARSMAN COMPANY'S NEW MANAGEMENT TO WORK MOTHER LODGE

An operating contract has just been agreed upon by the Mother Lodge Mining Company and Marsman and Company, for the operation of the Mother Lodge claims in the Paracale-Mambulao region adjoining the San Maurice Mining Company. A meeting of the Mother Lodge stockholders will take place for the purpose of ratifying the contract.

The Marsman interests will operate the Mother Lodge property for P1,500 a month until the mine is brought into production, after which the fee will be P3,000 a month, or 10 per cent of the net profits. After production has been started, 85 per cent of all profits will go to the Mother Lodge Company, and 15 per cent to Marsman and Company, with the proviso that 70 per cent of the first profits are to be used to repay any advances made by the Marsman Company.

About P100,000 will be spent for development, it was announced at the Marsman Manila office recently. If this is not sufficient, a loan will be floated. When sufficient ore has been located to warrant mining, Mother Lodge can choose between having the ore milled at the San Maurice plant or constructing a plant of its own. If it is decided to build a new mill, Mother Lodge may increase its capitalization, in which case Marsman and Company will have an option to acquire 20 per cent of the additional capital at par value, or the right of advancing the necessary capital.

All technical direction will be under Marsman direction. At present the Angelling vein of the Mother Lodge is being developed. Assays as high as P17 a ton have been obtained. Quirico Abadilla, chief of the division of mines of the bureau of mines, stated in a report that the Mother Lodge property shows the same geological conditions as those of the adjoining Santa Rosa and San Maurice companies.

SWEDISH RED CROSS

Still Untraced In Abyssinia

(Hong Kong Daily Press) Special.
Stockholm, July 17.
Greatest anxiety is felt here about the fate of the Swedish Red Cross Unit in Abyssinia, of which no news has been received since May. The unit was then sighted by planes about 400 miles south east of Addis Ababa. It was assumed at that time that the unit was heading for the Addis Ababa-Jibuti line, but since then nothing has been heard or seen of the unit. The unit was stationed near Dolo, and had been bombed by the Italians, resulting in the death of Assistant Doctor Lundstrom. The Swedish Foreign Minister declared that the Government would take "exceptional measures" in order to clear up the situation. Before the announcement of these measures however, certain foreign Governments must be informed.

GREEK NAVAL TREATY

(Hong Kong Daily Press) Special.
Rome, July 17.
The Greek Government informed the Italian Minister that it considered the Naval Treaty made with England last winter expired. According to official quarters the British Government is already informed of the decision.

BRITAIN JOINS STEEL CARTEL

Paris, July 17.
It is announced that the British steel industry, after two days' conversations, has definitely joined the International Steel Cartel. Their adhesion will be valid until 1940.
It is understood that certain contracts have already been signed as a result of the British decision.

PACIFICATION IN EUROPE Powers Faced With Difficulty

London, July 17.
The decision apparently reached in Paris to-day to hold a three-power conference here in connection with the German breach of the Locarno Treaty has not yet been officially communicated to the British Government. It is the opinion of well-informed observers here that it would be difficult for such a conference, comprising only representatives of France, Britain and Belgium, to take things much further than could be done through ordinary diplomatic channels.

An exchange of views on the subjects which will probably be discussed later at a five-power conference is all that is generally expected in London from a three-power meeting.
Undoubtedly British Ministerial circles are anxious not to miss an opportunity of making a big effort to remove the causes of unrest in Europe. If successful progress were to be made at a five-power meeting, including Italy and Germany, so that matters beyond the decision of these five powers were raised, then a third stage is tentatively visualised in London where the five original nations might resolve themselves into a European conference embracing all Governments.

RHODES SCHOLAR'S TRIUMPH

Wins Eclipse Stakes

London, July 17.
Glorious weather brought a vast crowd to attend the running of the Eclipse Stakes at Sandown Park, the biggest non-classic race and one of the richest of the British turf.
Cheering thousands watched the odds-on favorite at 8/11, the beautiful Rhodes Scholar owned by Lord Astor, flash through the opposition and win by six lengths from Lord Carnarvon's Elia Grace, at 100/7.

His Grace was four lengths ahead of the third horse, Fairley, 8/1, owned by the King but still running in Lord Derby's colours, owing to the Court's mourning.
The smashing performance of Rhodes Scholar, following his win over Mahmoud, winner of the Derby, showed he is one of the best of the post-war three-year-olds and would have been a certain Derby victor had he gone to the post in that event.
This is another example of Lord Astor's execrable luck on the Derby, which he has never yet won.

SCOTLAND YARD VERY BUSY

Witnesses of Hyde Park Incident

London, July 17.
Scores of telephone messages were received by Scotland Yard to-night, in response to the appeal witnesses of the incident in which an apparent attempt was made on the life of King Edward VIII.

A Criminal Investigation Department officer has been detailed especially to deal with these calls. There have also been a number of personal callers, and it is expected that the post to-morrow will bring statements that must be investigated. Every informant will be interviewed, and several days are likely to elapse before a complete report is available.

ITALY AND THE DARDANELLES

(Hong Kong Daily Press) Special.
Rome, July 17.
The Turkish Foreign Minister informed the permanent Italian representative at the League of Nations that an agreement would shortly be reached in the Dardanelles Conference, and that other countries are free to participate.
Italy, it is stated in authoritative circles, reserves herself all rights regarding such a treaty, and the pact will have importance for her only when she subscribes to it.

U. S. HEAT WAVE DEATH ROLL

New York, July 17.

The drought is still intensive after Wednesday's respite, though weather reports indicate some relief to-day.

DAVIS CUP TENNIS Henkel Forced To Retire

London, July 18.
A capacity crowd saw Australia and Germany each win one match in the Davis Cup Inter-Zone final, the winners of which will meet Great Britain in the Challenge Round.
Jack Crawford easily beat Henkel, who had to retire. The German player has recently been suffering from a bad cold.
Adrian Quist gave Baron von Cramm a wonderful contest before he was beaten. Quist damaged his ankle in the first game of the second set and had to have it strapped before continuing. After six minutes' rest Quist led 6-5 in the final set but never a match point. The wind was very strong, making the ball play tricky.

CROWD DISAPPOINTED

London, July 18.
A huge crowd was disappointed this afternoon at Wimbledon when Heinrich Henkel, Germany's second string player, defaulted when two sets down to Jack Crawford in the opening match of the Inter-Zone Final of the Davis Cup, thus giving Australia a surprisingly easy lead.

After Crawford had won the first two sets at 6-2, 6-2, Henkel, who has been indisposed recently, suffering from a bad cold, retired.
In the second singles match Baron Gottfried von Cramm, Wimbledon finalist for two years in succession, raised German hopes by beating Adrian Quist, the youthful Australian champion, by 4-6, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4, 11-9 to place the two countries on level terms.

G. P. Hughes and C.R.D. Tuckey, the English Davis Cup doubles team made a sorry showing at Eastbourne to-day against Donald Budge and Bryan M. Grant of United States when the friendly Anglo-American tennis match on Davis Cup lines was continued.
The Americans, who have seldom played together, beat the Englishmen in three straight sets, the scores being 6-4, 6-2, 10-8. The United States now lead by two matches to one, with two singles to follow.

PROTEST SENT TO HITLER

Opposition Party Grievances

Berlin, July 17.
The Confessionists, or Opposition party, in Germany, have sent a lengthy protest to Herr Adolf Hitler, the Chancellor, and demanding a reply by Monday.
Falling a reply, the Opposition party proposes to make public its grievances.
The gist of the protest is that Germans are giving honours to Herr Hitler which can only be given to God.
The protest declares the anti-Jewish movement is un-Christian and that the high-handed methods of the Secret Police are "hampering the freedom of the country."

ATTEMPTED SNATCHING

HUSBAND TO WIFE'S RESCUE

Mrs. C.S. Rosset was the complainant in a case at the Central Court on Saturday wherein Chong Kiu, 38, unemployed, was charged with the attempted theft of a handbag in Pedder Street.

Sub-Inspector Sabey said that at 7.10 p.m. on Friday the complainant and her husband were walking in Pedder Street when the defendant came up and tried to snatch the handbag. He was unsuccessful in that the complainant was holding it with her hand through the strap. He was chased by the husband and arrested.

Defendant said that he had no means to earn a livelihood. He had been in Hong Kong for 10 days, and wanted to go back to Swatow.

His worship said that it was a very serious offence to rob a woman. There was no doubt that the defendant was a professional and practised his profession within the short period of ten days. Defendant was sentenced to six months.

HARBIN ON THE DECLINE ONCE ORIENT'S GAYEST CITY

Harbin, Manchoukuo (By Mail). Harbin, once the wickedest and gayest city in the Orient, is dying. Ever since Japan seized Manchuria from China and converted it into an "empire" of its own, the once glittering metropolis at the crossroads of the eastern and western worlds, where a score of different nationalities drank together, danced, dined, and rubbed elbows and hearts with the gay women of Russia, Korea and China, has been steadily declining until today it is only a shadow of its former self.

When Soviet Russia was obliged for political and strategic reasons to sell its Chinese Eastern Railway to Japan, its thousands of employees on the railroad returned to Russia. And when Tokyo began to "Japanize" the whole of Manchuria, thousands of additional Russian residents (mostly "white" Russians), finding it impossible to do business or to secure work in competition with the Japanese, packed their things and returned to an uncertain fate in Bolshevik Russia rather than live in a city that was slowly assuming the aspect of a cemetery. "Better live in Red Russia than starve in Japanese-ruled Harbin," they declared.

"OPEN DOOR" LOCKED

Now that Japan has locked the "Open Door" in Manchuria, and has thrown the key away and squeezed out most of the American and other foreign business firms, only a few foreigners remain, besides the Russians. Their places have been taken by Japanese, who have opened scores of retail shops, cabarets, dancehalls, restaurants, and opium dens.

The European quarter of Harbin to-day looks more like a city in Japan. The Russian population has dwindled from nearly 100,000 to one-fourth that number. The Japanese authorities say frankly they do not want Russians or any other foreigners in the city, which they declare is needed for exploitation by their own nationals. So they have given notice to all foreign business concerns that they must get rid of their Russian employees. In taking this action the Japanese authorities undoubtedly have in mind the possibility of war with Soviet Russia.

THE TRANSFORMATION

In a short time the famous Kaitakaya Street, the Broadway of Harbin, will resemble the Ginza, Tokyo's celebrated shopping street. Most of the former Russian store proprietors have left, and their shops have been taken over by Japanese, who bought the premises for a "song." In the city's remaining European restaurants, cafes and stores, waiters, waitresses and sales-people have been engaged who speak Japanese.

The Soviet consulate here is besieged daily by crowds of Russians seeking visas to leave. They declare they cannot make a living in Harbin and that their only salvation is to return to Russia, bad as it may be, and try to assist in the development of the workers' republic.

To those Americans in the Orient who frequently went to Harbin for diversion and pleasure, the saddest feature of life in the old metropolis to-day is that most of the pretty Russian cabaret and dance-girls, who once made the city gay and giddy with life, have vanished. They have been supplanted by "sing-song" girls and geisha-girls from Japan.

And Harbin has lost its former reputation of being the main clearing-house for furnishing Shanghai and other gay Oriental cities with Russia's most comely refugee girls who fled from their own country to seek a freer, easier and more profitable existence in other lands. With the Japanese invasion of Harbin and the improvement of living and social conditions in Soviet Russia, the flow of these young women from Russia through this gateway to China has virtually stopped.

Mrs. Sweeney—That couple next door seem very devoted. He kisses her every time they meet. Why don't you do that?

Mr. Sweeney—I don't know her well enough yet.

"Where's the cashier?"

"Gone to the races."

"Gone to the races in business hours?"

Yes, sir, it's his last chance of making the books balance."

INSPECTION OF THE NAVY

BY THE KING

Trip In Fast New Torpedo-Boat

Portsmouth, June 30.

This afternoon, just before he left Portsmouth, where he had spent a busy day, the King, from the Royal Yacht Victoria and Albert, gave the order to "Splice the mainbrace," which meant that every officer and man in the port could have an extra tot of rum, or a teetotal drink if he preferred that, to celebrate the occasion of his Majesty's first official visit to the Royal Navy. In a signal to Admiral Sir John Kelly, the Commander-in-Chief, the King said:
"I congratulate the officers and men I saw this morning on their appearance on parade."

The King, who had spent the previous night at Addean House, near Chichester, was given a great welcome as he passed through the villages of Emsworth and Havant.
Crowds lined the roadside in each place, and all the school children gathered on the pavements, waving flags. At Portsmouth, the old entrance to Portsmouth in the fortifications, the King was received by the Lord Mayor and Corporation in their robes. It was raining hard at the time, but the King left his car and shook hands with the Lord Mayor and the civic party, to several of whom he recalled that he had met them on his previous visit to the city. Great crowds of spectators who had assembled at this point called loyal greetings to the King, to which he responded smilingly.

Replying to the Lord Mayor's welcome, the King said:—
"I am very pleased to meet you.
The weather is not good, but I understand you want water in this district, and you ought to be pleased."

AT THE NAVAL BARRACKS

So great was the press of people round the Royal car that the King was 15 minutes late in reaching the Royal Naval Barracks.
Owing to the heavy rain the ceremonial parade at the Barracks was cancelled. The King was received here by the Commander-in-Chief and Commodore L. E. Holland.
As he entered the Barracks Royal Salutes were given. His Majesty was wearing the uniform of an Admiral of the Fleet, and was accompanied by Admiral of the Fleet
Sir Ernle Chatfield, the First Sea
Lord, and Commander Lord Louis Mountbatten. After inspecting the guard of honour the King went into the gymnasium, where the officers and men of the Royal Naval Barracks and various ships companies marched past him in single file.

From the barracks the King drove to H.M.S. Vernon, all the way amid cheering crowds. There he inspected on parade the officers and ship's company of the Torpedo School and of the Submarine Depot.

After this formality the King had what was really the most interesting experience of the day at Portsmouth. At the Vernon Pier
he embarked in Motor Torpedo-Boat No. 1, the first of the new high-speed torpedo-boats to be added to the Royal Navy. His Majesty was received aboard this craft in nautical fashion, and she set out on a high-speed run to sea.
The boat is 60ft. long, and has a speed of over 40 miles an hour. It carries two 18in. torpedoes, besides guns. The boat was under the command of Lieutenant-Commander G. B. Sayer, and had a crew of eight, with two officers.
The King sat in the control station of the boat and took great interest in the vessel, which carried out various manoeuvres at full speed so that his Majesty might see the qualities of the boat. Choppy seas were met with near the harbour mouth, but outside the water was smoother. At the West Sturbridge buoy the boat fired a torpedo at the destroyer Amazon and registered a hit at top speed.
The King watched the operations closely and spoke in complimentary terms of the way in which they were carried out.

AT WHALE ISLAND

At Whale Island the King landed to make an inspection of the officers and men of the Excellent Gunners School, the Reserve Fleet, and the boys of H.M.S. St. Vincent Naval Training Establishment for Boys. In the last named his Majesty spoke to many of the boys and asked them whether part of the country they came from. Most of the boys came from the southern

FLOGGING INSTRUMENT TO BE CHANGED

AMENDMENT SOUGHT

A Bill is shortly to be introduced into the Legislative Council to amend the law relating to the instruments which may be used in fogging and whipping.

The object of this Bill is to abolish the birch and to substitute a light cane or rattan in all cases where the use of the birch has been authorised hitherto.

Three instruments are at present authorised for use in penal whippings or floggings. Under section 80 (c) of Ordinance No. 41 of 1932 boys under sixteen may be whipped within the court premises with a light cane or rattan.
For floggings and whippings in prison the "cat" and the birch are the alternative instruments authorised by section 12A (c) of Ordinance No. 10 of 1888 and section 4 (1) (b) of Ordinance No. 3 of 1903.

The birch only is the instrument authorised by section 4 (2) (d) and 6 of Ordinance No. 3 of 1903.
For offences punishable under Prison Rules the birch and the light cane are authorised under General Rule 317 (a) and all three instruments are authorised as alternatives under General Rule 321.

INTER-CABINET
STRUGGLETitulescu's Position Secure

"Hong Kong Daily Press" Special
Bucharest, July 17.

After the inter-Cabinet struggle, the position of M. Titulescu seems to have been strengthened once more, so that the Roumanian Foreign Minister in a statement in the paper, "Universul," in which he declared that he considered it the natural thing that Roumania tried to live on friendly and neighbourly relations with Russia, her neighbour with 170 million inhabitants, and a country allied to Roumania's allies. Roumania also wanted to live in friendship with Germany, but in the first place Roumania's friendship belonged to the States of the Little Entente, Poland, the Balkan Union, England and France. With the latter state Roumania had not only common ties of race and common interests, but also common efforts were made for the sake of peace.

and western countries. Among those presented to the King at Whale Island was Mr. H. Scott Paine, the designer of the motor torpedo-boat in which His Majesty had just made a sea trip.

ROYAL MARINES INSPECTED

From H.M.S. Excellent the King drove to Eastney Barracks, where he inspected the Royal Marines.
This was the first time the Marines had been inspected by a reigning Monarch. Among those who received the King at Eastney were Lieutenant-General Sir Richard
Foster, Adjutant-General, Royal Marines, Admiral of the Fleet Sir
Roger Keyes, M.P., Hon. Colonel Commandant of the Portsmouth Division, and Brigadier Bourne, Colonel Commandant. The Marines marched past the King and then, advancing in review order, gave three cheers for His Majesty.

FROM EASTNEY BARRACKS TO THE DOCKYARD

The King drove along Southsea Esplanade, where 20,000 school children (it was a holiday in the city schools), Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, and a great throng of other spectators gave him an enthusiastic welcome. This was continued all along the 34 miles to the Dockyard.

KING GEORGE'S SIGNALMAN

The King took luncheon at Admiralty House with Admiral Sir John Kelly, Commander-in-Chief, and afterwards inspected the Royal Yacht Victoria and Albert. While aboard the yacht the King presented a silver cigarette-case to Leading Rigger Batchelor, who for eight years acted as signalman in the late King's racing cutter Brittania. The King expressed regret that the Britannia's career had ended, and said he felt that his father would have wished Bat-chelor's services in her to be recognised. Before leaving the yacht his Majesty made an inspection of the Royal apartments.
Later he left Portsmouth privately for Addean House.

"TROUBLE IN PARADISE"

"THE UNGUARDED HOUR" AT THE KING'S

Loretta Young and Franchot Tone form a delightful new romantic screen team in "The Unguarded Hour," now showing at the King's Theatre.

The new picture, filled with romance, drama and mystery, gives both players an excellent opportunity for their talents.

Moving with lightning speed, the story concerns a prosecuting attorney who sends men to their doom by his brilliant use of circumstantial evidence. When he is caught by circumstances for a crime he has not committed his wife comes to his aid to save his life.

Both Tone and Miss Young are outstanding in their respective roles as the attorney and the wife.
Roland Young, as the friend of the family, is exceedingly funny while Lewis Stone is sterling as the head of Scotland Yard.

Others who score in the mystery thriller, are Robert Greig, Dudley Digges, Jessie Ralph, Alleen
Pringle and Henry Daniell.

The German U.F.A. film concern

COLLEGIATE

Sparkling with new songs from the facile pens of Mack Gordon and Harry Revel, with grand comedy furnished mainly by Joe Penner, Jack Oakie and Ned Sparks, and with something like 150 beautiful girls for background, Paramount's latest musical, "Collegiate," opened yesterday at the Star Theatre.

"Collegiate" is the first picture to give Frances Langford an important role though she has had singing parts in a couple of other films. She not only sings in her own lovely way, but she acts in this picture. Her principal number, "Will I Ever Know?", should become an immediate favorite.

Jack Oakie is cast as the nerve-do-well nephew of a rich old lady who bequeaths him a girls' seminary at the outset of the story, with the proviso that he must stay away from the brimming fashion for a year.

Lynne Overman, Oakie's handyman, and Ned Sparks, his anti-publicity agent, join the playboy in his hitch-hiking journey to the school, and on the road they encounter Joe Penner, who has a nice car, plenty of money, and a bad case of amnesia.

These four, borne into the school, which turns out to be a hair-ribbon-and-bloomers institution, very dull and uninspired, where the ether is still the leading musical instrument and the savotte the favourite dance.

Miss Langford is in love with Oakie while Penner, in his campus rambles, comes across a lovely blonde, Betty Grable, a screen newcomer who possesses all the beauty that any one girl could desire.

The transformation of the seminary under Oakie's direction is remarkable. By accident and by mistake Penner determines that he really is a rich polo player and he is made professor of polo.
Courses start in "fashionology," in swimming and diving, in make-up, in song-writing, and in other subjects designed to make the young women charming. Even Miss Langford gets into the spirit of things and switches from a prim little girl to a winsome attractive singer.

All this transpires with a background of catchy music and impressive dance ensembles. There can be no question that it is one of the most skillfully produced and directed musicals yet to come out of Hollywood, containing all the elements to bring success at the box office and satisfaction to the audience.

"ONE-WAY TICKET"

"One-Way Ticket," Columbia's dramatic picturization of the real-life story of a prison guard's daughter, will be shown soon at the Alhambra Theatre.

Featured in the large cast are Lloyd Nolan, Peggy Conklin and Walter Connolly, not forgetting the impish little Edith Fellows of
"She Married Her Boss" fame.
The story is based on a novel by Ethel Turner which tells of the love borne by the prison officer's young daughter for one of the convicts. The film's underlying theme concerns the girl's confused loyalties to her father and the sweetheart she has unwittingly helped to escape.

London, July 1.
About 20 vessels of the Fleet in China will make a cruise from Wei-hai-wei from July 24, under the Commander-in-Chief, Vice-Admiral Sir Charles Little. The Force will include two cruisers, one air-craft-carrier, five destroyers, one sloop, and about 10 submarines with their two parent ships. In the list of ports to be visited is Tsingtau, the base of the former German province of Kiachau. The cruiser Dorsetshire and the destroyers Daring and Diamond will go there from July 25 to 30; and the aircraft-carrier
Hermes and the flotilla leader
Duncan from July 31 to August 9.

Sir Charles Little, in the Kent, accompanied by the sloop Falmouth, will visit Chefoo from July 24 to 27, and then transfer his flag to the Falmouth for a visit up the Pello River to Tientsin

Chinwangtao from July 25 to August 1, and Chefoo from August 2 to 10. All the ships will return to Wei-hai-wei on August 10 except the destroyers Delight and Duchess, which are ordered to Shanghai and Hong Kong.

COMMAND OF THE RESOLUTION
The battleship Resolution will shortly be recommissioned for service in the Home Fleet. On account of the scarcity of men she has been maintained with a reduced complement at Portsmouth, since her return last autumn from the Mediterranean, where she had been serving temporarily as flagship of the Commander-in-Chief.

Captain Sir Lionel Sturdee has been appointed in command when she recommissions, in succession to Commander the Hon. O. W.
Cornwallis, O.B.E. Sir Lionel Sturdee is now on his way home from China in command of the cruiser Dauntless, which is due to leave Colombo early for Aden.
The Resolution will be his fifth command as a captain since his promotion in 1926, for in 1928-30 he commanded the repair-ship Assistance, in 1930-32 the torpedo schoolship Defiance, and in 1932-34 the St. Angelo, depot-ship at Malta, as Flag-Captain and Chief Staff Officer.

Major R. A. R. Neville, Royal Marines. The conditions under which the Navy can train and mount a team, always difficult, have been particularly so this year, and it was not until the first week in May that the team got finally together. The Navy has taken part in the Inter-Regimental Tournament only on three previous occasions, and on two (1930 and 1931) it was represented by the same four players who will appear at Hurlingham to-day.

VISITS TO U.S. PORTS

In the course of their summer cruises all five ships now on the America and West Indies Station will call at United States ports.
The York, Captain H. P. Boxer, is now visiting Norfolk, Virginia, and from July 1 to 6 should be at Charleston, South Carolina. The Apollo, Captain M. J. C. de Meric,
M.V.O., flagship of Admiral the Hon. Sir Matthew Best, Commander-in-Chief, left Havana, Cuba, yesterday for Colon, in the Panama Canal Zone. From July 3 to 7 she will call at the Galapagos Islands (Ecuador), and from July 14 to 20 at San Diego, California. Other American ports will be touched at on the return journey from British Columbia.

THE KING'S ORDEAL AT INSPECTION

WITH HAND
AT SALUTE FOR AN HOUR

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, July 3.

For a full hour yesterday the King stood at the salute on a platform in the gymnasium at the Royal Naval Barracks, Portsmouth, while, 4,640 sailors and marines marched past in single file.

Only very occasionally, through sheer weariness, did the King lower his arm as the seemingly endless line of men in blue marched through a narrow doorway leading from the drill hall to the barrack square.

It was the King's first visit to his Navy since his accession. It was to have been an open-air inspection.

The 4,640 men were drawn up in the barrack square when rain began to pelt down. Admiral Kelly decided that the inspection should be carried out under cover.

When the King arrived he laughed and waved a hand at the empty barrack square. "I am glad," he said, "that the men have not been kept standing in the rain."

But before this the King had been mobbed by a crowd of thousands of people at Pontybridge.

Pontybridge is the only entrance by road to Portsmouth, and a civic reception had been planned to take place.

The King talked for a few moments with the Lord Mayor and then re-entered his car to drive to the barracks.

Police had until then maintained an avenue for the royal car, but with an enthusiastic surge the barrier was swept aside, and in a moment women and girls were actually standing on the running board of the royal car.

The car had begun to move, but the chauffeur was compelled to stop—to drive on would certainly have endangered limbs—while the police made frantic efforts to restore decorum.

The King sat back smiling and waving his hand until eventually the Chief Constable's car cleared a way.

IN MOTOR TORPEDO BOAT

After the inspection, the King delighted the Navy by going to sea in a motor torpedo boat—the Navy's latest and fastest acquisition.

The sea was choppy; a squally wind swept up white horses, and as the Navy's new greyhound gathered speed columns of spray kept smothering her sharply-defined bows.

In a long creak over his naval uniform, without hat, and with his fair hair windswept, the King stood on deck. As the torpedo boat, shot off, the three 500 h.p. motors rushed her speed up to the maximum of 44 knots in an incredibly short period.

At the King's request a torpedo attack exercise was carried out, and in the manoeuvres the King's craft heeled over until the deck rail was almost awash.

A torpedo fired from the King's ship registered a hit on the distant target—H.M.S. Amazon.

FOUR MILES OF CHEERS

Afterwards the King drove four miles through cheering crowds which numbered more than 200,000, among them, in front seats, children who had waited hours in the dreaching
rain.

His Majesty paid his first visit as King to the royal yacht Victoria and Albert at the dockyard during the afternoon. He spent about twenty minutes on board, and inspected the royal apartments which have been practically untouched since the death of King George.

PROSPECTS FOR RATINGS

Their Lordships have authorized adjustments in the port division numbers to absorb re-engaged men so that for the present the vacancies available for the advancement of men serving under ordinary engagements will (in all cases) be at least as many as if there had been no special reenlistments. In many cases, due to expansion, prospects will be better; states a new Fleet Order; but in certain ratings, with little increase in requirements and small numbers completing 22 years' service during this financial year, advancement will necessarily remain normal.

BRIGHT COMEDY
AT ALHAMBRA

"Love Before Breakfast"

If it is a good laugh you want make your way to the Alhambra Theatre, Kowloon, where "Universals" production "Love Before Breakfast" is your screen reward.
Packed full of laughs there is not a dull moment from beginning to end thanks to bright dialogue, comedy situations and the slick direction of Walter Lang. The film was adapted from the novel,
"Spinster Dinner" by Faith Baldwin, the well-known authoress.

Carole Lombard, who was recently seen here in "Hands Across the Table" with Fred MacMurray, Preston Foster, Janet Beecher and Cesar Romero (one of the gangsters in "Show Them No Mercy") form a splendid quartette in the leading roles. Miss Lombard is seen as Kay Colby, Foster as Scott Miller, Romero as Bill Wadsworth and Janet Beecher as Mrs.

Colby.

Miss Lombard gives a bright performance that is the last word in sophistication. Foster is her persistent lover and it takes her all her time to get rid of him.
But he wins in the long run. So persistent is Foster that he goes to the extent of giving her three engagement rings! Foster says:
"Now that we are engaged when can I see you?" Kay's reply is "Just when it is customary, Mr.
Miller!" They marry eventually.
Romero completes the triangle, of course.

Betty Langford, Douglas Macleay,
Earl Rocher, Andre Berenger, Ed
Barlow, Diana Olson, Joyce Compton and John King form a supporting cast.

LOITERER BOUND OVER

Remanded for medical examination. Chau Tang, 19 years, charged with being found on enclosed premises at 43 Pelho Street, ground floor, for an unlawful purpose, was bound over in $20 for one year when he appeared before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday. Inspector W. R. Chester-Woods prosecuted.

POSSESSION OF UNLAWFUL INSTRUMENTS

Lam Ting-piu, who spoke English, appeared on remand before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday charged with the possession of an instrument, a pick lock, fit for an unlawful purpose. Det. Sub-Inspector Cunningham stated the man was born and brought up in Auckland, New Zealand, and had tried to find work in Canton but was unable to. He came to Hong Kong also, to seek employment. Defendant was bound over in a bond for $20 to come up for judgment when called upon within a year.

THEFT OF CIGARETTES

Commenting that the theft was quite deliberate, Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday passed sentence of 20 days' hard labour on Ai Chuen, a young unemployed, who pleaded guilty to stealing two packets of cigarettes from No. 32, Parkes Street, and three packets of cigarettes from No. 208, Shanghai Street. Inspector R. Shannan stated that the defendant was stopped in Shanghai Street by a district watchman and searched. Defendant pleaded he had no work and had had no food for several days.

NUDIST FINED

Bathing in the nude with a party of fellow-workers cost Chan Sang, 28, a fine of one dollar, or three days' imprisonment when he came before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday morning and explained that he was ignorant of the regulations. Sgt. Bentley, of Shamshuipo Police Station, stated that seven men were bathing near yards off the main Tai Po Road near the 3 1/2 mile stone at 5.10 p.m. on Friday. They were quite visible to passing motorists.

THE LURE OF SHUM CHUN

COOK SENT TO GAOL

Thefts From Employer

Leung Wan-yau, 42, who was a cook in the employ of Mrs. J. Russell, No. 8 Tak Sing Street, for the past sixteen months, appeared on remand before Mr. Q.A.A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Police Court on Saturday facing charges of theft and illegal pawning of two rings, valued at £163, and $8 in money, all the property of Mrs. Russell between June 1 and July 9. The money was placed in an envelope in a drawer with the rings.

At the previous hearing on July 11, it was disclosed that the defendant was arrested on suspicion twelve hours after he had absconded and that he had pawned the rings for $281. According to a statement made to the police, the accused first took a ring on June 21 which he pawned for $100. On June 23 he took the other ring for which he obtained $110 in pawn. On June 25 following a run of luck while gambling at Shum Chun he redeemed the rings. Three days later he again pawned a ring for $120 which he redeemed on July 2. On June 29 he pawned a ring for $110 and on June 3 the second ring was pawned for $180. Both of these rings he had failed to redeem.

The case was adjourned in order to give Leung time to raise sufficient money.

On Saturday, Det. Sub-Inspector R. Cunningham informed the Court that the defendant's wife had tried to get the money but could not do so.

The magistrate, addressing the pawnbroker, said that he did not feel disposed that the complainant should pay money for the return of the rings. The mere fact of the value of the rings should

PAINT AND VARNISH

A remand until this morning was granted by Mr. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday when a 30 year-old coolie named Lai Ching Lo, of No. 505 Shanghai Street, was charged before him with theft of 36 gallons of varnish from the China Paint Factory, No. 1 Arran Street on July 16. Accused was alleged to have broken into the factory with others not in custody.

Detective Sergeant R. R. Ellis said that he was asking for the remand in an effort to trace the missing property. The police had an idea that the accused knew something about this.

The Magistrate in remanding the case, intimated to Lai that any assistance given to the police might help in the ultimate sentence given.

BANISHEE

Charged before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday with returning from banishment, Yeung Tak, 49, unemployed, was sentenced to six months' hard labour. The man was banished in November, 1934, for ten years. Insp. Chester-Woods prosecuted.

TREE DESPOILERS

Several cases of possession of tree branches, in some instances freshly cut, were dealt with by Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday morning. Lo Hing, arrested by Sgt. Bentley, in possession of 54 cuttings of wild tree branches on the Tai Po Road was fined $5 or fourteen days' gaol. Chan Cheung, who had 35 cuttings of pine tree branches was similarly penalised. Wong Mui-kei, 25, who admitted the possession of 100 cuttings of tree branches was fined $10 or three weeks' imprisonment. Inspector Chester-Woods prosecuted.

OPTUM CHARGE

A fine of $1,000 or six months was passed on Loi Yau, when he appeared before Mr. Burgess at the Central Court on Saturday charged with the possession of 60 tacks of raw opium in Water Street.

Two other men, Lo Yee and Ua Kan who were charged with Loi Yau, were discharged. R. O. Grimmit appeared for the prosecution.

AN ILLICIT STILL

WOMAN CONVICTED

A raid made by Revenue Officer H.R. Major and party on the ground floor of No. 30 Fuk Wah Street, Shamshuipo, on Friday morning disclosed a large still in working order in the kitchen; also 150 gallons of fermenting material.

Before Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday, Leung Cheun, 50, married woman, pleaded guilty to charges of possession of an illicit still; possession of fermenting material; possession of distillable Chinese wine; and distilling wine. Leung Yee, aged 20, unemployed, who also faced the charges, pleaded not guilty and stated he was merely on a visit to Leung Cheun, his aunt.

R.O. Major said he accepted the woman's plea but in regard to Leung Yee's case he had been instructed by his office to apply for 48 hours remand as there was a further charge to be brought under the Magistrate's Ordinance.

On knocking on the door of the flat, said R.O. Major, the woman opened it. Second defendant was lying on a bed and there was a small kit bag containing clothes. The woman admitted being the principal tenant and that the paraphernalia belonged to her. "The first defendant actually comes here and says everything is hers and tries to clear the second defendant," he added.

Leung Cheun was fined a total of $280 or, in default, three and a half months' hard labour, and Leung Yee was remanded for 48 hours in gaol.

have raised the pawnbroker's suspicion.

The defendant was sentenced to a total of nine weeks' hard labour and was ordered to pay $100 arrears to the pawnbroker, or serve an additional three weeks' imprisonment.

The rings were returned to the complainant.

SCHOOL GIRL GAOLED

FOR POSSESSION OF HEROIN

Man Yau Lin, aged 19, described as a school girl, appeared on remand before Mr. Burgess at the Central Court on Saturday charged with the possession of 12,000 heroin pills concealed in a rattan basket under some books. The girl was arrested in Jervois Street by R.O. Grimmit.

At the previous hearing defendant pleaded guilty but refused to divulge the names of those who had given her the drugs.

Mr. McCallum appeared for the defendant and said that he wished to plead guilty to possession but not to knowledge. The defendant, a very young girl, had been asked to plead and did not know to what she was pleading.

Mr. Burgess said that the girl had given her plea at the last hearing and he was accepting that plea.

Mr. McCallum then said that in that case he could only plead for mitigation of the sentence. It was people such as the defendant, a young girl, who had to bear the brunt of the punishment. Her shame at being arrested had been enormous and if the fine was too heavy she would have to go to prison.

Mr. Burgess held that to mitigate the sentence would be to encourage others to use such girls for their trafficking in drugs.

R. O. Grimmit pointed out that the girl had been given every opportunity to divulge the identity of the real culprits but she had been stubbornly reticent. She was carrying the drug concealed under the books and he was therefore asking for a very serious penalty.

Defendant was sentenced to nine months without the option and to a fine of $1,000 or three months, consecutively.

SERIOUS ASSAULT ALLEGED

WAS FORCED TO JOIN SOCIETY

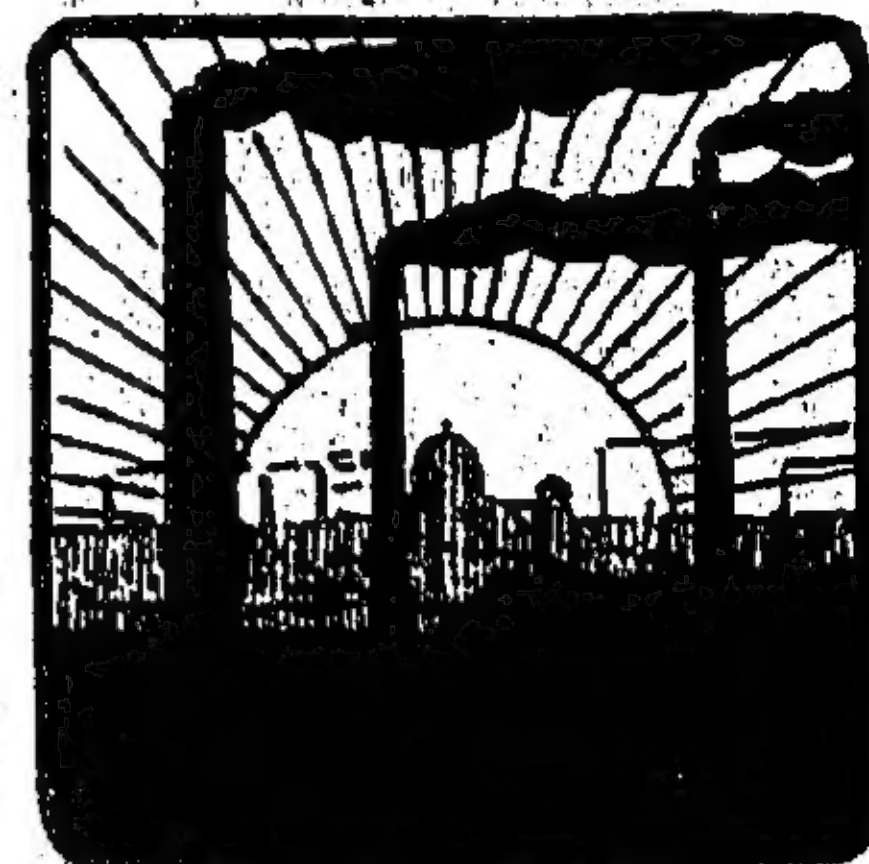

Lo Chui, 22, unemployed, was charged before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Court on Saturday with assaulting Wong Yau on July 17 causing grievous bodily harm.

Det. Sgt. J.S. Riddell stated that the complainant had wounds in the shoulder, head and hand.

About 11 p.m. on July 16 the complainant went up to the defendant and asked him for $1.20 which was owing. A quarrel arose and the defendant produced a

TEN OUT OF FOURTEEN YEARS SPENT IN GAOL

A man who had served ten years in jail during the past fourteen years appeared before Mr. E. Himsforth at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday charged with theft from two different addresses and receiving property suspected to have been stolen from yet another address, valued in all at about $80.00 was sentenced to one year in jail. He was described by the prosecution as "a very bad man."

On perusing the man's record, the Magistrate remarked "This is one of the worst criminal records I have ever seen."

Accused was Wong Lok, 32, unemployed charged with theft of five silver cups and a wall clock from Yeung Fat Fee, 44, school master, No. 38 Yee Wo Street, Wanchai on July 7. The second offence related to theft from Chan Siu Tong, 45, broker of No. 13 Soy Street, of a clock, a pair of earrings and a handbag. Included in the receiving charge also preferred against accused were two pairs of ladies' shoes and a ladies' handbag.

Detective Sergeant R. R. Ellis stated that Wong was arrested at 10 p.m. on July 16 in a small opium divan at No. 928 Canton Road, first floor. Five silver cups were found on his possession. At the station he admitted stealing the cups by breaking into a school in Wanchai at 4 a.m. The clock was pawned in Wanchai, but had since been recovered. On June 22, confessed Wong, he went to No. 13 Soy Street where he broke the lock and made away with the articles referred to in charge two. Some of the articles were pawned and tickets were found in his possession. Accused however admitted giving a few tickets to a prostitute, who has since absconded.

A visit to No. 415 Reclamation Street, where accused claimed he lived revealed the ladies shoes and handbag. Wong told several stories to the police as to how he came to possess them and finally stated that a friend now serving jail term, stole the goods and asked him to look after them.

Wong's criminal record showed that in 1922 he received 10 strokes for larceny; 10 years in 1925 for assault with intent to rob; 6 months in both 1932 and 1933 for housebreaking; three months in 1934 for loitering and six months for housebreaking in January this year. Altogether accused boasted nine convictions in fourteen years.

The Magistrate remarked that it appeared that no sooner was accused out of gaol, then he commenced his tricks again.

Sentence of six months' imprisonment on each of the larceny charges was imposed, together with a three months' concurrent term on the receiving offence. Accused was directed to be under police supervision for two years at the expiration of his year jail term.

DEFECTION IN CANTON'S AIR FORCE

'PLANES LAND AT KAI TAK

OTHERS IN NANKING'S HANDS

Reports from Canton state that General Chen Chai-tong is now left without a single aeroplane for the defence of the South.

Four planes arrived at Kai Tak Aerodrome on Saturday morning at an early hour, with eight pilots and one unknown passenger. They left Canton on Friday night in company with the remaining machines of the Canton Air Force, which, it is reported, have proceeded to Shao-kwan, and is now in the hands of the Central Government's troops. Insufficient fuel was the reason given for the planes choosing Hong Kong as their destination.

Enquiries from the Colonial Secretary, the Hon. Mr. R. A. C. North, brought forth the following official statement:

"Four planes arrived at Kai Tak this morning from Canton without notice. They will be kept here while the position is explored. It is understood that they are training machines from the flying school. Any Chinese machine coming here must give notice beforehand."

The pilots will not be detained if they desire to depart, but the planes would naturally be held.

ENTIRE FORCE DESERTED

"The entire Canton Air Force deserted to-day to Nanking," was the statement made to a special representative of Reuters in Hong Kong on Saturday by General K. Y. Wong, who landed in one of the four planes which arrived in the morning.

According to the General, the pilots of the Canton Air Force would obey the Nanking authorities as long as they did not display any pro-Japanese sympathies.

The majority of the Canton 'planes flew' to Shao-kwan where they will await the instruction of the Central Government.

CHEN CHAI TONG TO BLAME

Selfish Ambition Alleged

Marshal Chan Kee Yau, of the Central Government, and who claims to be closely connected with General Chiang Kai Shek, is passing through the Colony.

In his opinion, the imminence of war between South China and the Central Authorities was attributed mainly to General Chen Chai Tong.

There was no reason, he said, other than that of selfish ambition, for Chen Chai Tong to refuse Nanking's invitation to go north as a representative on the National Defence Committee. He was asked to give over the command of his armies to General Yu Han Mow and to devote his activities to collaborating with Chiang Kai Shek in a direct and definite policy for the unification and salvation of China.

The fear that he would lose power by doing so were the only grounds for his refusal to accept, but the offer was still open to him. His unwillingness to accept, was the action which threatened civil war in China.

"If he chooses to maintain the stubborn attitude he has adopted, Chiang Kai Shek has no choice but to suppress him by force of arms," said the Marshal, "and Chiang Kai Shek will not waste time in doing this."

When asked as to why General Chiang Kai Shek did not accept the plan for the anti-Japanese action as submitted by the late Mr. Hu Han Min, Marshal Chan said that Mr. Hu was invited to go to Nanking to discuss it in detail, but he did not go. He added that General Chiang Kai Shek considered that the South-West's anti-Japanese policy was simply being used to delude the people of China and to capture public sympathy, whereas in fact its whole object was the destruction of the Nanking Administration.

It was this conviction that had prevented a union heretofore, but once Chiang Kai Shek had unified, by force or otherwise, the provinces of China remaining to her,

BATHING FATALITY AT SHEK-O

HEROIC EFFORTS MADE AT RESCUE

Young Student Drowned

A bathing fatality occurred on Saturday at Shek-o beach, when Lucien Pion, aged 22, a student of Ricci Hall, Hong Kong University, was caught in the undertow and drowned. Five other members of the same party, which included two fellow students, G. H. Gou, aged 22, and Oey Jauw Hong aged 19, and the Misses V. Kitty and Rose Ma were rescued although at one time they were also in danger of losing their lives.

Cries of distress from the party, who were swept 70 yards from the shore by the undertow, attracted the attention of three Europeans believed to be soldiers stationed at Lyemuh, who went at once to their aid.

Mr. Phillip Gillespie and S.Q. M.S. Street of the R.A.S.C. assisted the three Europeans in their rescue work and their combined efforts resulted in five of the party being brought safely to shore. Artificial respiration was at once administered. The unfortunate student, Pion, was still in difficulty some distance from the shore. Mr. Street, who very recently left Hospital following a recent illness, attempted to reach the drowning man, but before he could reach him, he disappeared. Mr. Gillespie then swam out and insisted on Mr. Street returning, as the latter himself was in an exhausted state. Mr. Gillespie then dived several times in unsuccessful attempts to locate the missing man.

The difficult conditions in which the rescue was made are evidenced by the fact that a sampan, launched by a party of would-be rescuers who were also at the beach, capsized before they could render any assistance.

Shek-o one of the most popular bathing beaches in the Colony, has claimed yet another victim, for in rough weather it becomes exceedingly dangerous with a violent undertow.

REPAIR RECEIPT FOR WATCH

A Transaction That Failed

Convicted on an alternative charge of receiving a stolen watch, Li Chung, unemployed was bound over in a bond of $50 by Mr. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy on Saturday morning. Defendant pleaded that his sworn mother gave the receipt to him to sell to get some money.

Prosecuting, Detective Sub-Inspector R. Cunningham said the accused had maintained that story throughout. The relative he had mentioned had gone back to the country about five days ago. On May 24 last the complainant, Chan Sam, either lost or had stolen from his pocket the receipt. He informed the watch repairer, Nothing more was heard until July 16 when a man came to the shop and presented Chan Sam's receipt. The repairs to the watch cost 40 cents. It transpired that the defendant had sold the receipt to this man in a tea-house for $1.20 as the defendant had not enough money to redeem the watch. There was no criminal record against the defendant.

"The increasing number of defections from the South are indicative of the change of public sentiment," said Marshal Chan, "and the subordinate officers and general public are realising that the south-west government are not sincere in their fiery anti-Japanese denunciations. Pledges of loyalty to General Chiang are increasing, and although the achievement may involve violent military action, Chiang's avowed objective of a unanimous policy throughout China will ultimately be attained."

AN APTITUDE FOR MODELLING

YOUNG MAN'S GOOD WORK

H.K. Bank's Premises Copied

Bruce Martin, 18 year-old son of Mr. H. Martin, M.I.E.E., Superintending Electrical Engineer of H.K. Dockyard, Hong Kong left the Colony on Saturday by the a.s. Taiping for London where he will enter the School of Architecture, Bedford Square.

Bruce, who has been a pupil-draughtsman of Mr. Van Wyllck, Manager and Architect of the Credit Foncier d'Extreme Orient for the past two years, has shown unusual talent for modelling and designing. During his brief term with Mr. Van Wyllck, he has perfected an entirely new and unique system of model-making and has produced some fine models which have been entered for a scholarship competition in the school he is entering.

With him he is taking what is considered his finest piece of work, a scale model of the new Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank Building. It is made entirely of cardboard, paper and cellophane for the windows, and occupied 300 working hours in the making. Arrangements have been made by Mr. Ritchie, of Messrs. Palmer and Turner, the designers of the building, for the model to be displayed in the London offices of the bank.

Mr. Ritchie declared that it was the finest scale model of the bank in existence.

GERMAN PLANE FOR SHANGHAI

ARRIVED HERE ON SATURDAY

Twelve Days Out From Berlin

The German aeroplane Luftbanas Junker 52, "D-AGEE" arrived at Kai Tak aerodrome on Saturday at 5.30 p.m.

The ship, which is the fifth ordered from the Luftbanas Company by the Eurasia Aviation Corporation, at Shanghai, is a sister ship to the machine which landed at Kai Tak last December. She was delayed for a week at Athens, and the voyage took only twelve days from Berlin.

Captain Lutz is in command of the ship, which is an 18-passenger air-liner, with Second-Pilot Leidig and Chief Engineer Judeo on board.

Leaving Berlin on Monday, July 6, she flew through Belgrade, and reached Rhodes, an Italian island in the Mediterranean for refuelling. While there, the Chief Mechanic Stuchotte fell from the nose of the ship and sustained a serious fracture of the left shin-bone, and he had to be taken to the hospital immediately.

Having only one doctor in Rhodes, the unfortunate man was put on to the aeroplane on a stretcher and flown to Athens for medical attention. On the arrival there, he was operated on immediately. In the interim, the plane had to make a return trip to Rhodes to return the stretcher!

Due to frontier difficulties, visas, etc., there was a lapse of a week before the ship secured another mechanic from Berlin.

Continuing on the journey, she flew via Aleppo and Bagdad to Busshe, and from there to Karachi, the Royal Air Force Command in the Near East, where she refuelled.

After a stop of three days, the voyage continued on to Calcutta, via Jodhpur and Allahabad, and thence to Rangoon and Bangkok. The next refuelling was done at Rangoon, before proceeding to Hong Kong.

The unfortunate accident at Rhodes was the only incident that marred the otherwise pleasant trip from Berlin. The plane, according to Captain Lutz, missed all the stormy weather in India, which was rather unusual.

Due to the strong winds on Saturday afternoon, the plane circled over the aerodrome to judge a correct landing, which was accomplished successfully.

Among the large gathering to greet the airman were Herr H. Gipperich, Consul-General for Germany, and Frau Gipperich, Mr. Moss, the Civil Superintendent

SUNSTROKE VICTIM

Death Of Young American Seaman

ON FIRST TRIP TO FAR EAST

When Louis James Zutte, aged 18 years, bade farewell to his mother in America prior to his departure for the Far East for the first time, little did she know that it would be the last time she would see her son alive.

Zutte took up an appointment as greaser in the engine room aboard the Dollar Line steamer President Jackson. The liner returned from her round trip to Manila on Wednesday and went into the Kowloon Docks.

On Friday morning, it appears that Zutte went for a swim at Tai Wan beach after which he lay on the sands enjoying a sun bath. It was a hot day. On returning to his ship he complained of fever. His temperature was taken and he was put to bed immediately.

Shortly after 3 p.m. he became worse and his temperature, it is learned, was then 109 degrees.

An ambulance was summoned and the patient was rushed to the Kowloon Hospital where he died shortly after admission. It is understood his temperature reached 110 degrees before death intervened.

It is learned that the body of Zutte is still in the Colony and it has not yet decided whether the burial will be in Hong Kong or the remains taken to his home town.

The Dollar Steamship Line are awaiting advice from America. The President Jackson sailed for the United States on Saturday night.

'COMING OF AGE' PARTY

Miss Haynes actually celebrated her 21st birthday last week but owing to indisposition it was unavoidably held over.

Among those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Dudley, Mr. G. C. Dudley, Mr. J. R. Luke, Miss P. Coghlan, Mr. and Mrs. Le Gay Brereton, Capt. and Mrs. D. Wilson, Miss Anne Fowler, Miss Florrie Fowler, Miss Lyn Murray, Miss K. Tonge, Mr. S. A. Gray, Miss Mona Hadley, Miss O. Dalziel, Mr. G. W. Giffen, Miss A. Mackenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Neill, Mr. N. Stockton and his mother Mrs. Stockton, and Mrs. Lillian Hall.

UNLUCKY THIEF

Recognised When Trying To Dispose Of Stolen Cycle

An unlucky coincidence, unlucky from the defendant's point of view, in that when trying to sell a bicycle which he had stolen, he went to a shop where a friend of the owner was working and recognised the cycle, resulted in the appearance of Lam Hing Wo, 28, unemployed before Mr. Burgess at the Central Court on Saturday, charged with the larceny of a bicycle from outside a public dispensary in Aberdeen. The complainant was Yiu Piu Kin, 37, an office boy of the Public Dispensary.

Sub-Inspector Sabey stated that on July 13 the cycle was reported to the Police as having been stolen. On Friday night the defendant tried to sell the cycle in Sham-shuipo. The man in the shop was a friend of the complainant and recognising the bicycle, informed the complainant. Defendant was fined $25 or three weeks.

of the Aerodrome, and a crowd from the German community.

The airman were guests of the Deutscher Klub and were entertained at the Klub at an informal gathering.

Despite unfavourable weather conditions, the plane took off at 7.30 yesterday morning and reached Shanghai in the afternoon.

HILLSIDE MURDER IN KOWLOON

GARDENER VICTIM OF CHOPPER ATTACK

Two Assailants Arrested

Hunghom district, the scene of a sensational stabbing affair on Thursday last, was again brought into the limelight following a murderous attack on a 49-year-old gardener in a hut situated on the hillside at Hau Pui Lung in the vicinity of the new Central British School.

The attack occurred about 8.20 p.m. on Saturday. His alleged assailants, two in number, were arrested by Chinese constable C308 and taken to Hunghom Police Station.

The victim of the murder was Ip Kiu, aged 49, gardener and his alleged assailants were 'Kung Shing 33, blacksmith, and Yung Ming, 24, gardener. The hut belonged to one of the latter two.

From a police report it transpires that the three men had a quarrel over money matters. Two of the men sided against Ip Kiu and it appears that they lost their temper and inflicted severe cuts on Ip with a chopper. One of the gashes penetrated an artery midway on his right arm and caused profuse bleeding. He died a few minutes later.

P. C. C308 who was on patrol in Ma Tau Kok Road was attracted to the scene of the crime by the disturbance created and reached hut No. 3 on the hillside in time to arrest two men who were leaving the hamlet.

The constable went into the hut with the two men in custody and discovered that Ip Kiu lying dead in a pool of blood.

The party then returned to Hunghom Police Station where the two men were detained pending enquiries.

Police investigations were set afoot and a C.I.D. party, which included Mr. T. Murphy, A.D.C.I., Mr. G. S. Wilson, A.S.P., Det.-Inspector A. H. Elston and Chief Det.-Inspector J. Murphy, proceeded to the scene.

The alleged assailants, Yung Shing and Yung Ming, will appear before the Kowloon Magistrate this morning on a capital charge.

FRENCH PREMIER'S APPEAL

Paris, July 18.

The Premier, M. Leon Blum, today broadcast an appeal to the nation to buy the Baby Bonds issued by the Government, which are unlimited and redeemable at short notice. M. Blum added: "You have elected the present Socialist Government. It is up to you to give the Government the means to carry out its task."

The Government's idea in issuing bonds of small denomination was to make use of the hoardings in France, estimated at $300,000,000. A bill for the extension of suffrage to women has been placed before the Senate for discussion. Since the Great War a similar bill has been passed by the Chamber of Deputies four times, but has been rejected by the Senate. There is hope, however, that the fifth occasion may meet with success.

THE "COMMERCIAL BOMBER"

"Civil" aeroplanes which can quickly be turned into bombers are known to have been flying on Continental air lines for years past. But the authorities concerned have usually, and naturally, been secretive about details. Now a British machine has been built deliberately designed to suit either purpose and we can all hear "how it is done." The machine is an Airspeed Envoy, one of four ordered by South Africa, for service either with South African Airways or with her air force. As an air liner it can carry six passengers and a pilot at a speed slightly under 200 miles an hour. With military equipment its performance (not published) can scarcely be much less. Conversion into a bomber is specified by the makers to take eight hours; in practice, according to "Flight," it can be done "in less than three." The process involved, states the "Aeroplane," is to lift a cover off a cavity in the top of the fuselage at the back of the cabin, to take out the lavatory, to drop in an Armstrong-Whitworth gun-turret and mounting complete, to install a forward gun and its gear, and to fix on bomb racks. The "commercial bomber," as the journal happily calls it, is then ready to take the air, and, unlike an armed merchantman, at the best a most auxiliary cruiser, is every bit as efficient as a bomber of the same power designed solely for the job.

Plainly a most convenient instrument for any small country which wants to provide inexpensively at one and the same time both for commercial aviation and for its air "defence." Equally also, the machine is a further proof of the truth that the world can never hope to obtain disarmament or limitation in the air without at the same time either internationalising civil aviation or setting up a system of rigid international inspection and control.

AIRSHIP GIVEN ORDERS

Not To Fly Over British Territory

Frankfurt, July 18. The commander of the airship Hindenburg stated that when he reached the coast of Northern Ireland yesterday morning on his return from Lakehurst, the German Government ordered him not to fly over British territory. This is apparently a sequel to the questions asked in the House of Commons on July 8 about the airship's flights over strategic points.

SOUTHWEST COLLAPSE

Gen. Chen Chi Tang Leaves Canton

DEPARTURE FOR UNKNOWN DESTINATION

Deserted by his troops and loyal supporters in his warlike demonstrations against Nanking, General Chen Chi-tang, military head of Kwangtung, is reported to have sought safety in flight.

Developments since the plenary session of the Central Executive Committee decided to dismiss him have been swift. Kwangtung's fighting equipment both in the sea and air suddenly changed their allegiance, planes and river craft making a wholesale departure for the North and some seeking safety in Hong Kong.

The latest news received here is to the effect that General Chen Chi-tang has relinquished his command in Kwangtung. It is reported that he left Canton by the gunboat Hanchow shortly after 5 p.m. on Saturday, accompanied by General Ho Lok, the Cantonese Commissioner of Police, for an unknown destination.

Although General Chen Chi-tang's arrival in Hong Kong is not known, rumour has it that he is in the Colony and that he may proceed either to Kwong Chow Wan or Haiphong in Indo-China. During General Chen's absence from Canton, Generals Li Yeng-king and Mow Pui-dam will be in charge of all military affairs, and Messrs. Huang Lin-shu, Au Fong-fu and Li Yin-chung will look after civil affairs pending the arrival of General Yu Han-mow, Nanking's appointee to replace General Chen Chi-tang.

ADVANCE ON CANTON

It is reliably reported that Gen. Yu Han-mow's troops are pressing towards Canton from northern and eastern directions.

General Li Chung-jen, the Kwangsi commander, joint advocate of the anti-Japanese platform which has now collapsed completely, left on Saturday afternoon by plane for Nanning, capital of Kwangsi.

At the present moment the Kwangsi troops have arrived at Fatsan. Cantonese troops have been ordered to go there in order to check any attempt which may be made in an advance towards Canton.

REFUGEE DANGER

In the meanwhile, with events pointing to an outbreak of hostilities, the exodus from Canton by boat, train and junk continues at an alarming rate, according to report.

During the last few days Hong Kong has become the home for these political refugees, the majority of them sickly looking specimens, clad in rags with only a bundle as their worldly possession.

The unrestricted entry of these people into the Colony raises a serious problem, for apart from the fact that they are penniless and of a type that should not be dumped in the Colony, there is the grave danger of an epidemic being started in the present hot weather.

(Other reports on China political developments appear on Page 7).

SAMPAN SINKS IN HARBOUR

Occupants Rescued By Police Launch

The squally weather experienced on the waterfront and in the harbour over the week-end took its toll yesterday, when a sampan became waterlogged and sank. The occupants were rescued by No. 5 Police launch which was on patrol duty in the vicinity of Tai Wan, and the sunken vessel was towed to the praya wall off Hung Hom, at Gilles Avenue, where it was beached, at about 4 p.m.

Two of the sampan people, apparently none the worse for their "ducking" landed at Hung Hom, while the police launch, under the charge of Sergeant Mattinson of the Water Police, continued its patrol. Throughout the evening interested spectators wended their way to the praya wall to view the sunken vessel.

Late enquiries reveal that no fatality attended the mishap.

General Shih will be calling on General Sung Chieh-yuan this afternoon to thank him for the appointment as member of the Hopei-Chahar Council and he will be assuming office to-morrow.

If Gossip We Must

(BY "ONLOOKER")

Three weeks' gossip all in one, is a tall order, especially when the tattler has travelled thousands of miles, and been to all sorts of lovely places, and seen all sorts of marvellous people en route. That floating palace the "Empress of Japan" carried heaps of Hong Kong folk last month. The educational Hamiltons—it will be remembered, were going home on retirement via Canada, and Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Potter were bound for a short spell of Home leave. Mrs. Dunbar and her sister were en route for the States, and there was a regular gang of well-known young men of Hong Kong or Canton on holiday bent. Last, but by no means least, there were that popular bridal couple Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Wyllie who were married recently at the Cathedral.

Shanghai was as gay as ever in spite of the appallingly hot weather; and that best of all night haunts "The Paramount" was the most welcome relief from the heat with its perfect air-conditioning. (By the way why does not some enterprising person or company start some sort of haunt in our bank building. It would be a marvellous attraction for the hot weather.) Of old Hongkongites with whom I foregathered Comdr. and Mrs. Skyrme were in great form, in spite of having spent most of the day becalmed in the boiling sun on the Wang Po. Mr. Dunbar was amusing as ever, and Miss Billy Smith who will never be forgotten in Hong Kong was just her old attractive self. Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Reiss have got the most charming house, and seem to be enjoying Shanghai not a little, and so is Mr. Peter Strickland.

"The Paramount" put up the most amazing floor shows that ever happened. There seemed to be one between each dance—each more wonderful than the last. A pair of exhibition dancers absolutely brought down the house (unfortunately I forgot their names), and the same Hawaiian troupe whom we saw in Hong Kong over a year ago were there with additions, to their numbers.

When we left Shanghai we found we had that popular person Miss Mary Drake on board complete with her mother and brother. They were going home to America, and stopping off at Honolulu I understand. Then came Kobe, lovely cool weather, a long train journey through that delicious verdant green of Japanese countryside, a perilous motor drive over not so good roads, and our arrival at Lake Side, Hakone. A wonderful welcome in real Japanese style from what seemed to be the entire hotel staff at the door, a delicious dinner, and our first taste of those peaches which we devoured at every subsequent meal. Then bed, to the pleasant sound of lapping water at the edge of the lake which was right under our windows.

The beauty of that simple country place is unforgettable. On a clear day one got a wonderful view of "Fuji" reflected in the lake, and of course there were endless beautiful walks to sample, and longer expeditions, to points of interest.

Hakone was well patronised by Hong Kong people. Colonel and Mrs. Johnson and their family were there with some other well known Army folk, and Capt. and Mrs. Power were thoroughly enjoying a simple holiday. Of course fishing in the lake was a great attraction, and even the children used to come in with quite big fish, and have them cooked for their supper.

After three days of this very pleasant place we went on to the famous resort of Miyazono, where all the world seems to foregather, and yet there is always room for more without making a crowd. Never have I stayed at such a perfect hotel as "The Fujia." Positively Roman luxury (complete with every sort of fancy bath with hot spring water to wallow in), and yet natural beauty everywhere, unrivalled in the whole of Japan. The famous Mr. Yamaguchi is a great artist at Hotel management, and his charming personality dominates the whole neighbourhood in a remarkable manner.

The decorations of the hotel are perfectly lovely, and on a wet day there is endless amusement to be had in just wandering round the different wings, and absorbing their beauty. The food was ambrosial of course, and we were waited on by deft little country maidens in gay kimonos who seemed to me far more efficient than the grandest European waiters.

The return journey in the Empress of Canada was a pleasant ending to a lovely holiday. Amongst the Hong Kong people we had another popular honeymoon couple—Squadron-Leader and Mrs. Anderson. (The C.P.R. is an interestingly cosmopolitan line to be sure. There were lots of the smartest American folk on board including a Mrs. Douglas and her daughter who on their return from Manila will be staying in Hong Kong for a few days before sailing for England. By way of a fashion note I noticed the American girls wore frocks, or divided skirts which look like a frock, far more than slacks nowadays on board. Very fresh and cool they looked, but I should hate to forego the comfort of slacks for deck wear on a long sea trip. There were lots of nice looking Philippine people on board, as well as Chinese, and there was one exquisite little Japanese lady in the loveliest clothes. I never discovered if she were bound for Hong Kong or Manila. Let us hope the former.

POPULAR SHANGHAI OFFICER

CHIEF INSP. GROVES GOES HOME

Presentations Made In Hongkew

Shanghai, July 14.

With the retirement of Chief Insp. A. G. W. Groves, who will sail for Home to-day, the Shanghai Municipal Police have lost one of their most popular senior members well known in the community.

Two presentations were made to the departing police inspector yesterday at Hongkew Police Station, of which he had charge at the time of his retirement. In the morning the Chinese staff gave Chief Insp. Groves a handsome silver cigarette case, and in the afternoon the Foreign Branch of the Force presented him with an inscribed gold watch with gold and jade pendant.

Capt. E. R. Kennedy, Assistant Commissioner of Police, made the presentation in the afternoon, printing out that the large gathering attested the esteem in which Chief Insp. Groves was held by his fellow policemen and that the recipient's many tenures as officer in charge of Settlement police stations reflected his great efficiency and trustworthiness. When a station needed a good chief, Mr. Groves was promptly sent there.

32 YEARS IN THE EAST
"Happy" Groves has spent 32 years "out East," partly in Egypt, partly in Shanghai. He joined the Municipal Police in January, 1913, and rose through the various grades to the rank of Chief Inspector. He has been in charge of Hongkew, West Hongkew, Yangtzeppoo, Kashing Road, and Sinza Stations and is noted for his sangfroid and conscientiousness.—(N.C.D.N.)

SPANISH MOROCCO IN REVOLT

Insurgents And Loyal

ARRESTEDDisturbances In Seville
And Other Towns

('Hong Kong Daily Press' Special)

Madrid, July 18. In a radio announcement broadcast on Saturday afternoon, the Spanish government declared that the "criminal attempt against the Republic" had failed.

The government had waited so long before making an official statement, it was added, because they first wanted to obtain accurate information and to take urgent and stern action for the suppression of the movement.

Thanks to the comprehensive measures enforced, peace and order prevailed throughout Spain and the movement obtained no support on the Peninsula, being confined to sections of the Moroccan troops which had forgotten their duty to their country.

RADIO STATION SEIZED

Several generals and many officers have been arrested and the authorities had succeeded in capturing an aeroplane in which one of the leaders of the revolt was attempting to escape abroad. The machine was of foreign make.

The insurgents had seized a radio station at Ceuta and broadcast an assertion that the Ministries in Madrid were already in their hands alleging in order to make the statement more credible that the broadcast was from the Seville station.

Airmen belonging to the insurgent troops had bombarded Ceuta and Melilla because the troops in the towns would not join the revolt.

Loyal forces of the land, sea and air engaged energetically in suppressing the revolt and were in control of the situation.

PLANS MISCARRIED

Paris, July 18. Contrary to the declaration of the Spanish government, private reports from Casablanca state that Spanish Morocco was entirely in the hands of the insurgents and that bitter fighting was taking place between them and the loyal troops assisted by sections of the civil population.

According to these reports it appears that the rebel officers' plans were that the revolt should break out simultaneously in Morocco and Spain itself. But whereas the rebellion in Morocco started according to schedule, the organisers on the Spanish side were not ready with their preparations in time.

Communications at the Franco-Spanish border, Hensyrlun, are reported to be absolutely normal.

GOVERNMENT CLAIM

Paris, July 18. The Spanish authorities in Morocco claim that the rebels were defeated. Nine people are reported to have been killed in the disturbances at Melilla when residents tried to resist the insurgents from declaring a general strike. Three deaths from the disturbances occurred at Tetuan where the rebels are said to have occupied the High Commissioner's office.

It is reported from Oporto that troops have been confined to barracks throughout Spain and that there have been disturbances at Burgos and Pampeluna.—Reuter.

CALL TO STRIKE

Paris, July 18. Whilst an official wireless message from Madrid announces that a regiment of cavalry has been rushed to Seville to suppress the revolutionary movement there, an appeal has been broadcast by the Trade Union leader Caballero calling on the workers to declare a general strike where the anti-government forces have proclaimed a state of siege. This indicates that trouble is occurring in other towns besides Seville.

A Spanish Government communiqué admits that some centres are manifesting "a certain amount of uneasiness," but is confident that the movement will remain localised.—Reuter.

TROUBLE ELSEWHERE

Madrid, July 18. The first official admission that the rebel movement was not confined to Morocco was contained in an announcement that the Spanish Government has rescinded the state of siege illegally proclaimed by anti-government elements in certain parts of Spain, the Balearic Isles and the Canaries.—Reuter.

FASCISTS ROUNDED UP

London, July 18. According to press reports it is stated that the Spanish Government agents are rounding up Fascists of the right wing and leaders throughout Spain on suspicion of planning the counter-revolution.

It is reported that several generals in Spain have been arrested on a charge of complicity in the revolt.—Reuter's Bulletin Service.

EARLIER MESSAGES

Madrid, July 18. After several hours' silence the Spanish Government admitted that there was a military rising in Melilla, Morocco. Martial law has been declared in Melilla and the Foreign Legion has occupied the town.

The Minister of Communications says that Colonel Eitella, of the Melilla garrison, revolted with all the troops under his command. The General Officer Commanding at Melilla surrendered.

General Gomez Morato, Commander-in-Chief of the Spanish forces in Morocco, has left Ceuta for Melilla. The reports indicate that the rising is local. General Morato believes that he can deal with the movement and suppress it speedily.

TANGIER REPORTS

Paris, July 18. Messages from Tangier report serious trouble at Larache between civilians and the military, and speak of a military coup throughout Spanish Morocco. Travellers en route from Tangier to French Morocco were not allowed to cross Spanish Morocco owing to incidents at Arzila, Larache and Elksar.—Reuter.

TRUE POSITION
OBSCURESerious Fighting At LalineaBRITISH ORDER TO SERVICEMEN

Gibraltar, July 19. Owing to the cutting off of communications, considerable uncertainty prevails regarding the true position in Spain.

Spanish radio stations declare that the Government has the situation well in hand, but the Ceuta station which is in the hands of the rebels claims sweeping successes by the rebels throughout Spain.

Serious fighting between Fascists and Communists broke out in the frontier town of Lalinea yesterday evening in which one was killed and at least twenty injured.

Hundreds of British subjects attending the fair at Lalinea at the time hurriedly returned to Gibraltar.

All British naval and military men are ordered not to set foot on Spanish soil from to-day.—Reuter.

PHONE CUT OFF

'Hong Kong Daily Press' Special. Berlin, July 18. Telephonic communication with Madrid was suspended this morning. Private communications received by roundabout routes declare that serious unrest has again broken out, as the result of conflict between Marxists and Monarchists, consequent on the recent political murders.

The Spanish censorship, it is alleged, has stopped all telephonic communication with foreign countries so as to prevent the dissemination of news.

One of the last telephone communications that took place before the censor intervened stated that the Government was master of the situation, as the army had remained loyal.

NEW MEASURES
IN DANZIGPublic Safety Law
Tightened

('Hong Kong Daily Press' Special)

Danzig, July 18. A series of measures for the maintenance of public security and order was published by the Danzig government on Saturday in the official gazette. This action was deemed necessary because the existing law is insufficient in the opinion of the government to prevent "unscrupulous agitation carried on by the opposition parties."

According to the new measures, organisations and societies will be disbanded if the officials or members spread propaganda against the State interests. A further change of the law abolishes the right of appeal against police action of a political nature affecting the rights of the assembly, associations, press, possession of weapons and preventative custody, the maximum duration of which has been increased from three weeks to three months.

The law forbidding deputies of holding editorial positions under the penalty of prohibition of the paper has also been revived.

Finally the Jewish ritual slaughter of animals has been prohibited.—Reuter.

Montreux, July 18. The final text of the Straits Convention was adopted at a public meeting of the conference this evening. The protocol enters into force from the date of signature of the Convention which will be signed at a public meeting of the conference at 8 p.m. on Monday after a banquet by the Turkish Government to the delegates.—Reuter.

TERMS OF AGREEMENT

('Hong Kong Daily Press' Special)

Montreux, July 19. The text of the new Straits Convention which will be signed here on Monday opens with a preamble stating that the signatories desire to substitute this agreement for the Lausanne Convention of July 24, 1923 with the object of regulating the passage of ships in the Straits in such a manner that, as far as compatible with the security of Turkey and the Black Sea countries, the principle of free passage of ships through, and navigation in the Straits, shall be guaranteed. This principle is acknowledged and confirmed in article one of the new convention.

Following section one there are seven articles dealing with merchant ships which in peace time enjoy the right of free passage by night or day without special formalities irrespective of the nationality or cargo. The same conditions apply in war time when Turkey is neutral. If she is among the belligerents passage must be made by day following the prescribed route and ships must undertake to refrain from affording any assistance to the enemy.

WARSHIPS

The most important part of the convention is section 2, comprising articles 9 to 22, containing provisions relating to warships. Article nine states that ships transporting fuel are not subject to the same conditions applying to others. According to article 10, light warships and auxiliary ships are allowed free passage irrespective of nationality provided they enter the Straits by day and at a fortnight's notice given through diplomatic channels.

Warships not in this category may only pass through the Straits if belonging to one of the Black Sea States, the maximum tonnage for a single ship being fixed at 15,000 tons. This tonnage may, however, be exceeded by a Black Sea State in case of a battleship provided such ships pass through at one time accompanied by not more than two torpedo boats.

SUBMARINES

The passage of submarines is entirely prohibited with the exception of Black Sea States which may bring submarines built abroad to their base or take them out for repairs. In any case they may only proceed one at a time, and above the surface of the water.

Article 16 states that warships passing through the Straits may on no account use any airplanes carried on board. Article 18 fixes the total tonnage of non-Black Sea States in peace time at 30,000 tons. Should, however, the tonnage of the strongest Black Sea State later exceed the strength of another state which at the time of the signature of the agreement is the strongest, by at least 10,000 tons, then the maximum may be raised to 45,000 tons.

Warships of non-Black Sea States for whatever the purpose of the visit, may be permitted not to remain in the Black Sea for more than 21 days. If Turkey is neutral in time of war, then in principle warships enjoy the same rights of passage as in peace time according to article 19. Warships of belligerents are, however, prohibited by clause 2 of this article from passing the Straits unless carrying the obligations entailed by the League of Nations or peace and treaties.

MEDITERRANEANTurkey's Guarantee To Britain

Angora, July 18. concluded by Turkey within the framework of the Covenant.

Article 20 lays down that when Turkey is among the belligerents herself, articles 10 to 18 do not apply. In this case the passage of warships is entirely at the discretion of the Turkish Government.

Article 21 permits Turkey to apply article 20 if she considers that she is menaced by war.

AIRCRAFT PASSAGE

Section 3 of the Convention concerning article 23, relates to the passage of aircraft. Flights from north to south and vice versa over the Straits itself are prohibited in general although exceptions may be made.

General provisions contained in section 4, beginning at Article 24 transfers the power of the Straits commission to the Turkish Government, which undertakes to provide representatives of the other signatories with current statistical information concerning all ships passing through the Straits and deliver a yearly report. No provisions in the convention, it is declared in article 25, prejudice the rights and obligations arising for Turkey and the other signatories from the League Covenant.

Article 26 provides for ratification, stating that the agreement comes into force when it has been ratified by six signatories including Turkey.

Article 27 declares that any of the signatories of the Lausanne Convention may also join in the present Convention which is valid for 20 years and may be denounced two years before the expiry of that period.—Transocean News Service.

FIRST DEFEAT FOR C. C. C. "A"

Recreio Falters Against Taikoo JUNIOR CHAMPIONS STILL WINNING

C. C. C. "A" the potential Senior Lawn Bowls League Champions were humiliated by the C. S. C. C. on Saturday while playing away when they were defeated by 21 shots—all three rinks being on the debit side. This was the major sensation of the day, as the losers were regarded in many quarters as being unbeatable, and the Civil Servants' victory was therefore all the more meritorious.

Another minor sensation was caused by the lowly placed Taikoo Club when they inflicted a 14 shots' win over Club de Recreio when playing away. Apart from these two upsets, bowls results on the whole came out very much as expected.

In the senior division Kowloon Bowling Green, Kowloon Dock and C. C. C. "B" won their matches, while in the junior league Football Club "A", Bowling Green, Recreio, K. C. C., and Craigengower all were victorious.

RAGGED BALL GAME

EASTERN BEATS CANADIANS

ONE HOME RUN SCORED

The Eastern Baseball Team beat the Canadians by seven runs to five on Saturday at the Causeway Bay diamond. It was a game which fulfilled all predictions as to an amusing match. The ragged fielding which both teams displayed, according to an old-timer in the Colony, was "pretty fierce."

M. el Arculli, however, struck out eight of the Canadians. The fact that Arculli is on his first season of baseball shows that the Canadians are "way behind in their practice."

Muir, pitching for the Canadians, walked two for the opposing team, as did Arculli.

Hamet, of the Eastern team, made a home run, the first merry-go-round ever made by the Eastern. He also played well at first base.

The scores are:—

PLIGHT OF YI TRIBESMEN

Conditions In Tribal Regions

PETITION BY YOUNG LADY CHIEF

Nanking.

During a 30-day perilous journey from northern Yunnan to Nanking to petition the Central Government to convert 20,000,000 Yi tribesmen from barbarism into modern civilization and to protect them from the menace of foreign aggression and Communism is the noble mission of Miss Kao Yu-chu, hereditary chief of the Peihsing tribe and representative of 21 Yi tribes along the Yunnan-Kweichow-Szechwan-Sikong provincial borders.

A young and charming lady of 21 with curled hair and elegantly dressed in modern Chinese feminine raiment, her facial features not a shade different from those of an average Chinese woman, Miss Kao was found one morning at her temporary residence here. Talking in fluent mandarin, her manners polite and refined, the lady chieftain told of the existing conditions of the Yi tribes in the Yunnan-Kweichow-Szechwan-Sikong border regions.

The number of the Yi tribesmen in China, the charming visitor said, totals more than 70,000,000. Of this number, 20,000,000 settle in the provincial borders in the Southwest, especially along the Chinghai Kiang, or the "River of Golden Sand," in Yunnan province. The rest scatter in Hunan, Kwangtung, and Kwangsi.

"HONEST AND JUST"

Correcting general misconceptions, Miss Kao said: "The Yi people, though backward in civilization and nomadic in their mode of living, are hardy, honest and just. Their only fault is that they, being ignorant and uncivilized, know nothing about exploiting the rich natural resources in their vast territory."

With regard to the Yi settlement in the Southwest, she revealed that they are ruled by 60 tribal chiefs, only about half of whom have recognized the authority of the Chinese Republic.

"The climate there is mild and fascinating. Gold, silver, iron, lead and other mineral deposits and valuable medical herbs are found in abundance," she stated. Asked about the relationships between the Yis, Miaos and Hans in the border regions, Miss Kao remarked that the Yi and Miao tribesmen, while having different customs and speaking slightly different languages, are ruled by the same chiefs. They, however, disallow inter-marriage.

"Although the Han people are on good terms with the Yis and Miaos, they are, however, not obliging enough to mingle with them, a factor which is responsible for their backwardness," she pointed out.

As heir of an enlightened tribal chief, whose settlement dated as far back as the Three Kingdoms in Chinese history (220-265 A.D.), Miss Kao received her early education in Kunming, provincial capital of Yunnan, a fact which accounts for her refined personality.

Before her accession to the tribal chieftaincy, following the death of her father two years ago, she worked in the Women's Association in Kunming.

MARRIAGE OUT

As a chieftain she will not be able to settle down to domesticity and marriage is out of her mind, she told her interviewer.

Miss Kao, who came here in the middle of last June, together with Mr. Yu Chieh-tsai, representative of the Yi tribesmen in China's Southwest, has prepared a written petition for submission to the Central authorities, urging the latter to promote the welfare of the Yi populace who have been left entirely to themselves for years.

Contending that the Yi people are descendants of the same forebears as the Hans and thus deserve equal racial treatment, the petition asks the Central Government, among other things, to foster education among the Yi tribesmen and to lay out a definite and positive tribal policy.

The petition draws a somber picture of the existing conditions among the Yi tribesmen in the Southwest. On the one hand, they have allegedly been threatened the subversive activities of British and French missionaries who, under the pretext of preaching, are getting deeper and deeper into the interior of the Yi settlement with an eye on the rich mineral resources and territorial acquisition.

PEACE AND ORDER

On the other hand, the petition states, peace and order in the Yi settlement has been utterly upset by the recent penetration of the "Reds" under Hsiao Keh and Ho Lung from Yunnan and Kweichow. The doctrine of Communism is rapidly gaining ground among the Yi people, due to the inflammatory propaganda of the Communists.

FLOOD PREVENTION IN CHINA

SCHEME OUTLINED

Nanking.

Flood prevention in China should go side by side with navigation and irrigation improvements in accordance with a comprehensive hydraulic programme worked out on reliable data and thorough investigations of the different rivers in the country, declared Mr. N. A. van den Heuvel, Dutch conservancy expert, who is the director of the National Hydraulic Laboratory of the National Economic Council, in a recent radio broadcast at the Central Broadcasting Station.

"Flood prevention may be considered as a defence against an enemy, whereas by regulating a river for navigation purposes and by using the water for irrigation, the river is no longer considered as an enemy, but rather as a servant," the eminent conservancy expert said.

MAPPING OUT PLAN

Charged with hydraulic reconstruction duties the Hydraulic Department of the National Economic Council, according to Mr. van den Heuvel, is mapping out a general plan, covering all phases of flood prevention and navigation and irrigation improvements in the principal rivers in the country.

Discussing flood-prevention work, Mr. van den Heuvel remarked that this implies two principal phases: dyke-strengthening and reservoir-construction. Whenever the water of the river threatens to overtop the dyke, the dyke must be heightened. Or the water must be kept lower by draining it into reservoir lakes.

However, in the opinion of Mr. van den Heuvel, flood prevention constitutes only the negative side of the hydraulic plan for the improvement of a river. The positive side—navigation and irrigation improvements—should be none the less emphasized in order to make the river beneficial to the inhabitants along its banks.

Mr. Van den Heuvel recalled that from olden times inland navigation formed the principal means of communication. Even now small canals and river channels form the only links between many villages and towns. As water transport is much cheaper than any other kind of transportation, it is of great economic importance to improve the conditions of the waterways.

IRRIGATION

"Technically," Mr. van den Heuvel declared, "this means the building of sluices and ship locks in canals connecting the large rivers, which have to be regulated that larger steamers may ascend them as far as possible. Urgent improvements of this kind concern the Hai Ho up to Tientsin, the Yangtze River up to Hankow and the Whampoa up to Canton."

Turning to irrigation, Mr. van den Heuvel said that "in an overpopulated country such as China a good irrigation system may prevent the ever-threatening famines." In

CHINESE GIRL INJURED

BUSES COLLIDE IN NATHAN ROAD

The greasy state of Nathan Road was responsible for a traffic accident involving two motor buses which collided opposite the Dairy Farm premises at 5.10 p.m. on Saturday. A lady passenger in one of the vehicles received head injuries as a result of the impact.

It is reported that bus No. 782 was following No. 782 towards the ferry. At the bus stop opposite the Dairy Farm premises, No. 782 pulled in to unload passengers. The vehicle following behind collided with No. 782 as it skidded on the slippery surface of the road, when the brakes were applied.

Miss Mary Fung, a passenger of the first bus received injuries to her head when both vehicles were severely jolted by the impact. A crowd soon gathered when word went round that someone was hurt. Although bleeding, the girl refused to go to hospital. Both motor buses were able to proceed on their journeys.

SNATCHER CAUGHT

Very Thoughtful Act

Chan Sang, 28, unemployed, was charged before Mr. Burgess at the Central Court on Saturday with the larceny of $3 from the complainant, Au Yeung Yuk, a married woman, in Queen's Road. Sub-Inspector Sabey stated that the complainant was at a money changer with three dollars in her hand which she was going to change. The defendant ran past and took the money from her hand. Complainant chased him along Queen's Road, and Cochrane Street and defendant was finally arrested by a constable.

Defendant said that he had no money. The complainant had $15 and he only took three. Defendant was sentenced to three months.

STOLEN CAR FOUND IN WHANGPOO

SAMPAN MAN DIVES IN AND SEIZES NUMBER PLATE

Coolie Sees It Run Off Wharf

Shanghai, July 14.

How a five-seater sedan Buick, which was stolen from outside the Ritz Theatre, between nine and ten o'clock on Sunday night, came to run into the Whangpoo at the junction of the French and Nantao Bunds, is puzzling the French and River Police. Early yesterday morning a coolie reported to the French Police that he had seen a car run off the wharf backwards into the river. The water was low at the time and a sampan man dived in and succeeded in wrenching free the licence number plate, which proved to be 5109. Later, the French Police learned that a car had been stolen from the Ritz Theatre. It was the same one.

The possibility of anyone being drowned in the car was dispelled when the River Police, succeeded in raising the car yesterday afternoon. It lay between two ships—the stern of the s.s. Szechuen and the s.s. Kiang Shun. A diver succeeded in running two chains beneath the car and it was hoisted by a crane from the wharf. Beyond the coolie, whose recollection of what happened was somewhat hazy, no witnesses of the incident were found by the French Police.

Examination of the car following its removal from the river revealed that the door was locked and the gear lever was in top gear—(N.C.D.N.).

the enforcement of the irrigation scheme, he suggested, the distribution of the water should be controlled by a district office.

Concluding, the Dutch expert pointed out that the hydraulic reconstruction programme in China can not be expected to be completed within a short time. The length of time needed may be viewed from the fact that the regulation of the Rhine, which discharge is only one-tenth of that of the Yangtze River, took 100 years to finish and the development of the irrigation systems in the British, French and Netherlands Indies took more than a century.—Central News Agency.

GOLD SHARES GOING UP

LOCAL MARKET AT A STANDSTILL

The local share market has been at a standstill on account of the concentrated attention to the gold mining shares in Manila. In the financial market this feverish activity is known as the "mine craze" or "gold rush."

A number of the local brokers have made trips recently to Manila to seek first hand information about the gold mines, and they all appear highly satisfied with what they have learned.

Large numbers of shares have been secured for local investors or speculators, and some handsome profits have been made as a result of these transactions.

For some time now, forward business in these gold mining shares has been done, though those concerned are very careful in regard to their transactions. It is of interest that no forward business is done on the Manila Stock Exchange, all the transactions being on a cash basis. However, a tremendous business is being done there, and it has been learned from a reliable source that over 10 million pesos changed hands in the course of last week.

KAYAU MURDER PUZZLING TO INVESTIGATORS

Police Delving Into Theory Of Love Triangle

PARALLEL WITH ATTACK ON BARBER DRAWN

Shanghai, July 13. With no very definite leads, the police yesterday examined various theories offered to account for the murder of Kosaku Kayau, a young Japanese clerk, in Chi Mei Road, on Friday night. Witnesses were re-examined by the various authorities investigating the crime, but at the end of the day no important conclusions apparently had been reached.

Kayau was shot through the back of the head in the dark road at about 8.20 p.m. His assailant, it is believed, came up from behind after having waited in the shadows for him to appear. He fired one bullet from a .32 calibre pistol, but neither the weapon nor the empty shell has been found. Kayau fell, mortally wounded, at a point next to the high wall of the adjoining Japanese Garden about 140 ft. from Dixwell Road. A Japanese woman, who was a few yards from the scene, although not facing it, told the Japanese investigators she thought she saw two men, dressed like Chinese, run from the spot after the shooting.

The search for the motive continued. A theory has been advanced that Kayau was interested in a Korean dancing-girl and that the girl's sweetheart plotted the attack because of jealousy. It is understood that this theory has been seriously investigated.

SIMILAR ATTACK FAILS

Some importance also seems to attach to the supposition that the shooting of the young clerk might have been connected with another, attack on a Japanese in the same neighbourhood on Monday last. On that evening, Kintaro Kurimoto, a barber, was walking in Dixwell Road at almost the same hour, when he heard two sharp sounds coming from behind him. In a flash he recognized them as the clicks of a pistol trigger which had been pulled. A few moments later, according to his report to the police, a Chinese in a long black gown ran past him, turned sharply and aimed at him with a dark object which resembled a gun. There was another trigger click, but still no shot. The Chinese, Kurimoto said, dashed into a lane adjoining the Japanese Garden, and a subsequent search failed to produce him.

CHINESE WOMAN QUESTIONED

Chinese police continued to comb the district yesterday, in the hope of securing some clue to the mysterious murder. In addition to Sun Chun-san, who was found on Saturday as reported in yesterday's "North-China Daily News," the police questioned yesterday a new witness, a woman named Chen Chen-ze, residing in Heng Yang alleyway off Chi Mei Road, who said she heard a shot on Friday night. A police officer subsequently declared that neither of the two witnesses was of much help to the police, as neither actually saw the murder. Sun arrived on the scene after the shooting and assisted in putting the Japanese clerk into a rickshaw, while the woman heard the report in her house but never went out to see what had happened. Neither the weapon used in the murder nor the empty cartridge case was discovered.

For the purpose of expediting the investigation, Insp. Liang, of the Pao-shan Road Branch of the Bureau of Public Safety, who is in charge of the case, called for daily meetings with inspectors in charge of substations in his district. Progress of the inquiries is being reported to the Bureau of Public Safety in Nantao from time to time, and officials of the Bureau also are paying particular attention to the case.

RELIEVED OF ROUTINE

At a meeting of inspectors of substations yesterday, Insp. Liang again urged them to exert their best efforts in the investigation. All the inspectors are understood to have been relieved of routine duty so as to be able to devote their full time and energy to the case. Insp. Liang himself is concentrating all his efforts on the case. It is learned from reliable sources that a reward for the arrest of the murderer will be offered by the Chinese authorities.

Although the Japanese marines guarding the scene of the murder had been withdrawn, Chi Mei Road, one of the main thoroughfares to the Civic Centre, was still closed to traffic yesterday. The ties to enforce the new inspection procedure as formulated by the Anti-Smuggling Bureau under the Ministry of Finance. Thus the Customs authorities were unable to establish an inspection office at the Tientsin East Station, where all the smuggled goods from outside the Great Wall were loaded for distribution elsewhere.

Customs information states that the smuggling of goods from East Hoped to Tientsin, particularly rayon and sugar, slightly declined during June, due partly to the over-stocking of illicit goods in Tientsin, and partly to the new suppression measures applied.

Customs duties evaded are estimated in the neighbourhood of $3,100,000, which also shows some improvement as compared with May.

Reports from Chinwangtao indicate that far fewer smuggling vessels entered Manichwang, Nantao, and Pailiao during the month under review.

LAST SHOTS WIN PADGHAM HIS OPEN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Adams' Dramatic Miss For A Tie

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, June 26. Alfred Padgham (Sunderland Park, Kent) gained the crowning triumph of a wonderful season before a record crowd at Hoylake yesterday by winning the open golf championship with an aggregate of 287 strokes for 72 holes.

When the final stages began, Padgham was level with Henry Cotton, one stroke behind the joint leaders, W. J. Cox and James Adams.

A fighting round of 71 put him in the running, but Adams emulated that score. Cotton, round in 70, joined Adams in the lead, with one round to play.

Padgham finished with another 71, and then retired to the club house to await, with philosophic calm, the advent of his nearest rivals.

One after another they failed. Cotton and Adams each needed a 72 to tie. Tom Green required 71, and Gene Sarazen, the American, 69.

Adams appeared to have spoiled his chances by taking 38 for the first nine holes, but he holed from 6 yds. for a birdie three at the tenth, and was successful with a four yarder for a birdie two at the eleventh to keep well among the leaders.

A blood second cost him five at the twelfth, and he had to hole a putt of 10 yds. for a five at the fifteenth, after being three times in the rough.

NEARLY IN—BUT OUT!

Needing two fours to tie, Adams was bunkered at the seventeenth, and his round came to a thrilling finish on the home green, where 3,000 spectators gasped as Adams putted from 12 yds. for a three—and a tie—hit the hole, ran round the rim and stayed out!

Then came Cotton, the champion. Striving his utmost to accomplish what, in normal circumstances, would have been an ordinary round, he put his drive out of bounds at the first hole, and he was in trouble again at the short seventh. He reached the turn in 36, and had to come home in a like figure to tie. A pulled second at the tenth cost him five. He was bunkered at the twelfth for another five, and missed a putt of 4 ft. at the fourteenth after being bunkered.

That was the end of a brave effort, and Cotton finished in 74 for a total of 285.

Green, who had come into the picture with a third round of 70, failed to reproduce that form in a final round of 75, and Sarazen, struggling all the way, finished four strokes behind the winner.

Padgham, from the start, was struggling to overcome the consequences of bad shots through the green. He played more indifferent long shots during the last two rounds than he has played all through the season, and only his putter saved him.

He holed putts of nine feet each on the first and third greens for par 4s, and putted perfectly to gain a 4 at the ninth and be out in 36.

A beautiful malleable niblick pitch enabled him to get his 4 at the tenth, after playing two shots in the rough, and all the way he was fighting against a tendency to hook his drives.

Padgham is always best over the last round, and all of the storming thousands who raced after him on that final effort expected him to break 70.

They were disappointed, for Padgham continued to play erratically through the green.

It was ominous when he took 37 to the turn, but the tall muscular Padgham was master of himself in the crisis.

A putt of two yards for a birdie two at the short thirteenth made him two under 4s. He was in the rough at the fifteenth, and again at the sixteenth, taking 5 at each hole.

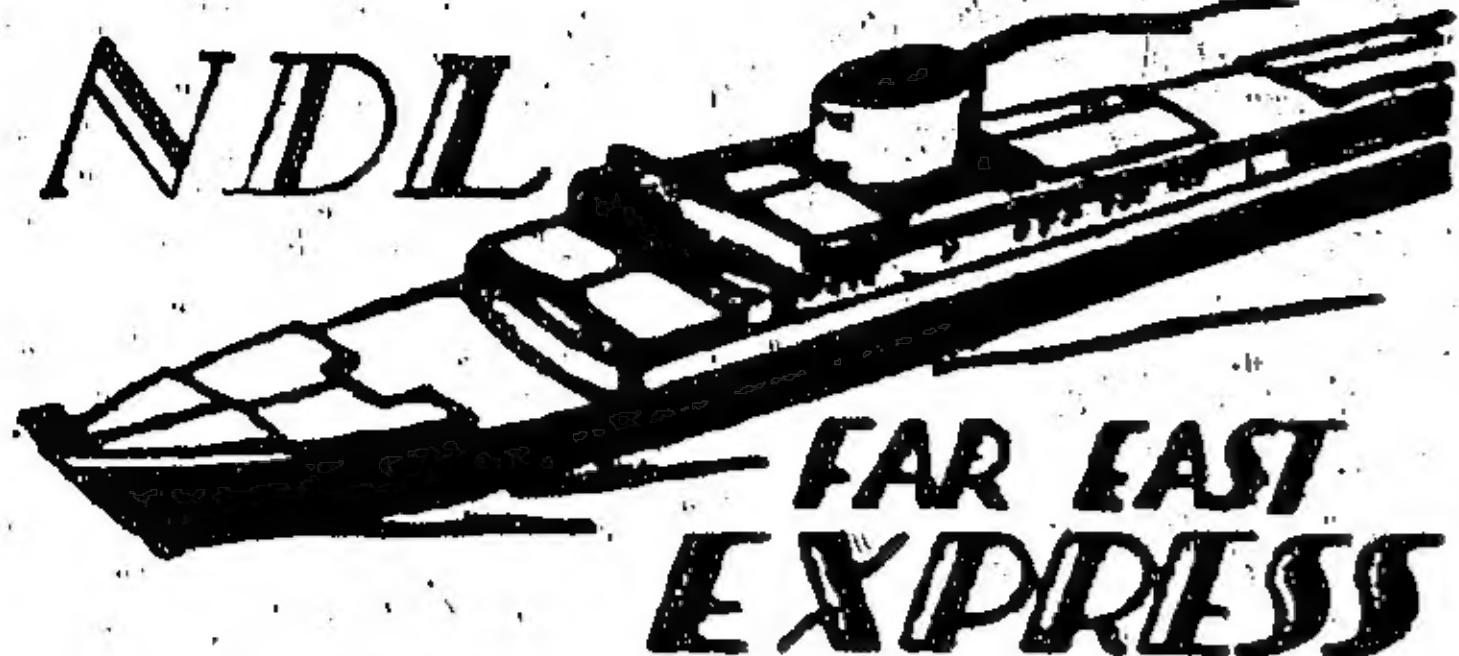

It seemed as though the championship would slip from his grasp. He was over the green at the seventeenth, but a delightful chip gave him his 4, and then came the grand climax and the winning stroke.

Padgham's last drive was straight down the middle, his malleable niblick shot four yards from the hole, and amid a rapturous cheer, his putt went in for a birdie 3.

THE SHARE
MARKETHarriman's Weekly Review

Saturday, July 18.

Messrs. G. A. Harriman and Co.'s weekly share report and market review issued at noon on Saturday states:—

Another week of activity characterized the market and Gold mining shares were again responsible for the major volume of business done. It is however pleasing to note a marked revival of interest in local issues, with, at the close a good buying demand for all investment issues; Hongkong Tram shares being the bright leading star, at $11.20 buyers, and business done. Electric were taken at 50 1/2 and are wanted further. Dairys have awakened to life, buyers bidding 19 1/2 sellers holding for $20. Telephones (old) remain either side of $25 1/2 cum after sales at this. Lights (old) after early weakness are wanted at close around $10.60. Among industrial, Cements found keen takers, up to $8.90 cash, but Ropes seem friendless and unsupported at $3.60 sellers. Sinters were transacted at $3 and buyers are bidding 35 cents for Constructions (old). Providents (old) are in favour and following sales at one dollar can be placed at something over this. The new shares have buyers at 15 cents and sellers at 25 cents. In the sterling section Banks declined to $15.70 cum the interim dividend of $2.10 (which is payable on August 7th). Unions are neglected at around $525 sellers. The Manila mining list was again active and rates were well-maintained until about the close, when an easier tendency developed. Now that the Manila Stock Exchange remains closed all day Saturday, profit taking during Fridays appear to weaken the market, which usually reopens firms again on Monday mornings. Antamoks have kept fully steady and many thousands of shares were dealt in between $4.85 and $5.1, closing buyers at $4.95 ex dividend. Atoks once reached 94 cts, closing however at 85 cts; bid. Baguio Gold were largely dealt in up to 4 1/2 cts, but eased off sharply at close to 39/39 cts. Benguet Exploration were carried up to 35 cts, but are now 33 cts. seller. Benguet Consolidated are steady at $19.40. Big Wedge have had wide fluctuations and sales were made as high as 77 cts, and down to 65 cents closing. Consolidated Mines were favoured locally and quantities were dealt in from 4 1/2 to 5.8 cts. Demonstrations at one brief period during the week were put up to $1.10 in Manila and local transactions were made, as high as $1.60. They finish the week decidedly below this record level at $1.38 closing sales. Ipo Gold have local enquiries and business has passed in this fairly low-priced share at 37 cts. Itogons are still steady either side of $1.95, and I. X. L. at $3 buyers. Masbats were popular and bought up to 92 cts. Northern Mining after sales at 43 cts, are now easier, closing 39/41 cts. Paracale Gumaus were traded in between 61 and 65, being 63 cts. buyers at close. San Mauricos rose to $1.38. Santa Rosa were largely dealt in at 4 1/2 and 4 1/4 cts. and Suyoc Consolidated from 56 down to 54 1/2 closing sales. United Paracales opened the week with very strong (but only temporary) buyers at $1.45 and sales were actually reported at $1.55. This spirit was but short-lived, and the rate has since weakened to a closing quotation of $1.32 buyers $1.34 sellers.

Business during the week has been done at the following prices:—
H. K. Banks, $1582 1/2, $1570 cum div.
Unions, $525.
Canton Insurances, $288.
H. K. & Docks, $37.
Providents (old), $1.-/1.05.
Ewo, $4.70.
H. K. Trams, $10.1, 10.60, 11.-, 11.10 & 11.20.
H. K. Electric, $50.-/50.1.
Telephones (old), $25 1/2 cum div.
China Lights (old), $10.40, 10.60 & 10.70.
China Lights (new), $7.35.
Cements, $8.90.
Hotels, $4.35, 4.40 & 4.45.

(Hong Kong Daily Press Special)

Berlin, July 18.

The Bourse prediction that the issue of the Reich loan with its exceptionally favourable rate of interest and conditions would, if successful, cause a sharp drop in the share prices proved unjustified. The general level of the share prices at the close of the week was approximately the same as at the beginning, certain shipping, mining, electric and bank shares even showing an advance.

This was due to the fact that the issue of the loan coincided with conclusion of the Austro-
